OVERGROWN VEGETATION OBSTRUCTING PATHWAYS

It's that time of year again when our gardens spring into growth and hedges are sometimes forgotten. If your property adjoins a public pathway it is your responsibility to ensure you have no overgrowth obstructing the pathway.

Safety is of main concern; it only takes a single overhanging bramble or branch to inflict serious injury to a person's eye or deflect them into the path of a passing vehicle.

If overgrowth causes injury to a pedestrian it exposes the resident to a possible claim and/or action by the District Council.

Please be a considerate resident and keep pathways clear of overgrown vegetation.
